

Sending Happiness through Books to Underprivileged Children in Poor Schools

The Duang Prateep Foundation invites you to send happiness to poor children through the gift of books, which are a treasure trove of knowledge and enjoyment. Through your gift, the children will have the rare opportunity to read good books.

One set of books, comprising 20 volumes, contains a wide variety of interesting and useful subject matter, not only for children and youths but also for teachers and guardians.

The foundation aims to give 1,000 sets of books to schools around Thailand. More than 100 schools have already signaled their desire to receive the books for their libraries. However, if you wish, you may nominate a particular school of your choice to receive a set of books from your company. All schools will receive the names of the kind sponsors who donated the books to them.

At just 2,000 Baht per set (including postage), your gift of books to poor schools will open up a whole world of new horizons, new knowledge and imagination for the children, increasing their intelligence and fostering a love of reading. It will also bring them unlimited enjoyment and happiness.

The Duang Prateep Foundation is a Thai charitable organization that has been helping to bring education to poor children for over 36 years. We are proud to organize the Sending Happiness through Books to Underprivileged Children in Poor Schools project, which fits well with our objectives. Thus, we invite you to join with us in giving happiness through books, by transferring your donation to:
